

ANGIE ELLIS

THE NUTSHELL

I'm an experienced designer who codes and relies on user information to define project needs. I have an extensive background collaborating, pitching, and communicating in writing and in person. I can produce motion graphics and I love to organize.

DESIGN

Experiential understanding of my design thinking to find strategic solutions. Extensive experience promoting brand consistency. Bonus: print work.

USER EXPERIENCE

Focus on user's experience because without it we're just decorating. Includes research, personas, storyboards, wireframes, prototypes and testing.

FRONT END DEV

Mobile-first, responsive. HTML5, CSS3/SASS, Javascript, jQuery. With or without frameworks. Compliant with web standards and best practices.

SOFT SKILLS

Years of working with clients, solving problems strategically and communicating with stakeholders. I collaborate with teams and work independently.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Skills mastered while managing 50-100 packaging projects at Browning Arms translated to tracking simultaneous freelance projects.

MOTION GRAPHICS

Concept videos and tutorials created with After Effects. UI explorations too.

TEAM LEADERSHIP

From an agency team producing a quarterly magazine to inter-disciplinary collaborations, staying on track and encouraging teammates is my focus. The same traits make me a good team member.

CONTENT STRATEGY & CREATION

Clients know what they need and I know what content they need to get there. If they don't write, I write for them; and if they do, I can proof.
